Temple Sinai 425 Roslyn Road, Roslyn Heights, NY 1157	Long Island Board of Rabbis/Islamic Center of Long Island with Sid Jacobson JCC Fasting Together, Jews and Muslims Pray for Peace	Rabbi Lina Zerbarini lzerbarini@sjicc.org 516-484-1545	7:30PM We dedicate it as a day of collective reflection for all who feel affected by the recent fighting between Israel and the Palestinians. We hope to come together to pray for peace, an end to fighting and bloodshed and a hope that reconciliation can soon be reached between both sides. We have much more in common as Muslims and Jews in the end than we do in our differences. The 17th of Tammuz mourns the day on which the walls protecting Jerusalem fell; Ramadan carries a message of cleansing ourselves and to return to the service of our highest values. Today we seek to build connections that lead to understanding and peace

UK, London	#hungryforpe ace yachad	https://twitter.com/hashtag/hungryforpeace?f=realtime&src=hash http://yachad.org.uk/choose-life-hungryforpeace/#.U8Lb4pSSy5B	At the end of the day, for those based in London, you are invited to join us for a screening of Two Sided Story at 8.30pm, and to break the fast which goes out at dusk (10.07pm). Two Sided Story follows a group of 27 Palestinians and Israelis who meet under the frame of a unique project called "History through the Human Eye" led by the Bereaved Families Forum – a group of bereaved Palestinian and Israeli family members. Details of location to follow. We'll be screening the film at the JW3 in partnership with the Friends of the Bereaved Families Forum UK.
Austin, TX, USA	Jews and Muslims in Austin, TX, all day	https://www.facebook.com/events/584384715011422/ Yaira Robinson yaira.robinson@gmail.com	We invite people to fast, and then come together with others to share honest and loving words of sorrow and prayer, and break the fast. We stand with the families in grief, in prayer, and against the violence—joining our bodies to our traditions as the 17th of Tammuz meets Ramadan. We stand together against violence, and against the fear and anger within each and every one of us.
Platt/Vanowen West Hills CA the Islamic Society of West Valley (7060 Owensmouth Ave)	West Hills, CA, 8:10pm	Rabbi Tsafi Lev tlev@faculty.ncjhs.org (818)585-5083	All are invited to break the fast together in solidarity around the simple idea of being against violence.
Lafayette Square in Washington, DC	OhevSholom, 5pm EST Prayer	Please contact Maharat Friedman at MaharatRuth@ostns.org or 847-722-8287 to add your congregation's name to the list of co-sponsors. Lafayette Square	In the past month the Jewish and Muslim communities have been shattered by the terrorist killings of four boys: Naftali Fraenkel, Gilad Shaer, Eyal Yifrah, and Muhammed Abu Khdeir. In response, Jewish and Muslim clergy of the DC area are joining together as part of an international effort by religious leaders to pray for an end to the violence. On Tuesday, July 17th the Jewish and Muslim calendars are united in a day of fast:

		Ruth Friedman maharatruth@ostns.org 8477228287	the fast of 17 Tamuz, and the fast of Ramadan. For both traditions this is a day designated for soul-searching, an opportunity for people to take responsibility, and for self repair, communal purification, and repentance. As we join together we hope to direct the consciousness of both peoples to this day as a "peak day" - a day in which each man and woman will be invited to take part, to fast in solidarity with the suffering, violence and pain of self and others, to ask how to end the cycle of bloodshed and draw a horizon of hope and vision. Please join Maharat Ruth Friedman, Rabbi Shmuel Herzfeld, and Imam Johari Abdul-Malik on Tuesday, July 15th at 5pm in to offer prayers for peace and comfort. Leaders and members of all faith communities are encouraged to attend.
3bis rue François Ponsard 75016 Paris	Coexister Paris, 21h00	Anne-Sophie Plard annesophie-plard@hotmail.fr 33678436143	Le 15 juillet, deux communautés religieuses jeûneront selon leur calendrier respectif : les musulmans pour le Ramadan et les juifs pour le 17 Tammouz. En Israël/Palestine, des juifs et des musulmans vont se regrouper pour rompre le jeûne ensemble. Nous souhaitons reprendre cette idée en organisant à Coexister une rupture de jeûne interreligieuse. Les chrétiens, athées, agnostiques, bouddhistes, hindous, baha'ie et autres sont également conviés à cette soirée. Afin de respecter les pratiques religieuses de tous, le repas sera casher et nous vous proposons de rompre le jeûne à l'heure la plus tardive soit 22h34 car les juifs jeûnent jusqu'au crépuscule. Pour faciliter l'organisation, nous demanderons à chaque participant d'apporter de la nourriture à partager (casher s'il vous plaît !). Nous avons une cuisine avec four et congélateurs si besoin. Durant la soirée, nous ferons une petite intervention sur le sens du jeûne du mois de Ramadan et du 17 Tammouz.

We will show empathy for each other's pain and share in a collective prayer for peace, and a better future which our peoples deserve. For both traditions, this is a day dedicated to taking an accounting of the soul, to taking responsibility, for correcting and purifying, to turning in repentance. The plan is to direct two peoples on this day to a kind of summit, during which everyone is invited to take part,

			to fast in identification with the suffering, the violence, the pain of one's self and the other, to ask how we will break the cycle of violence and to create a vision of hope. As one author (who lost his son in war) recently said: the situation is too desperate for us to drown ourselves in despair.
